

*A portrait by definition
is the likeness of a person.*

By artist William St. George it is also

the likeness of your home

or your horse.

Artist William St.George is probably best known for his Boston cityscapes. Yet, he is also a prolific portrait painter. And as you might imagine, he brings the same passion and bold color palette to his portrait work as he does to his cityscapes, landscapes and abstracts.

What's more, he paints portraits of horses and homes, as well as people. So, if you have a horse that you'd like celebrated, or a home that you feel especially fond of, William St.George would be the ideal artist to commission.
